

I strongly resent any intrusion into my increasingly dwindling time at home with my family. Therefore, I at home was not pleased to learn about the exemption for radio and TV telemarketing calls. By what twisted logic should these hawkers be exempt and other merchants not be? I would support any method that brought about the end of these telemarketing calls, including a thorough investigation of FCC personnel.